Award Winning Fashion Designer Andrew Majtenyi Presents his Autumn/Winter 2009 Collection at London Fashion Week

Friday 20 February, 6:30pm, Canadian High Commission, Canada House, Trafalgar Square SW1Y 5BJ. By Invitation

Award winning designer Andrew Majtenyi will present his Autumn Winter 2009 collection catwalk show at the Canada High Commission Ballroom, Friday 20th February at 6:30pm.

The 60 piece collection returns to his signature tailored looks, updated for AW09, featuring a deep expansiveness of muted monotonous with subtle richness.

“The trench coat has such a rich and lurid history,” says Andrew of his key inspiration. “It can be overtly sexy, sinister, or just plain perverse” This classic and timeless piece has been worn from the highest of kings to the homeless; the most elegant gentleman to the crude flasher.”

Silhouettes are modern with early 90's references, and appear geometric in form. To complement such rigidity, soft dresses in cashmere blend knits creates fluidity and balance. Very subtle military influences are seen.

Textures in many forms are principal in the development of each design. Pebble stone circles create a standout accent, treated boiled wool results in circular nodes, velvet embossed plaid builds depth, torn strips attached creates stripes, stitched yarns create a touch of masculinity, balancing with floral thread stitched cashmere knits.

Cool and foggy shades provide a richness of colour depth in deep slate, quarry grays. Blended black encourages a sense of darkness throughout the collection. Pumpkin and thistle green adds comforting warmth.

This show is in Co-presentation with the Canadian High Commission and thus by invitation, due to extensive Consular security. For RSVP and invitation inquiries, please contact Thomas Christian on 44 (0)7986 455 536 tbchristian@gmail.com After Party 8pm onwards, location TBA.
